

Did you know?

- The Fresno Police Department receives approximately 14,000 at-risk juvenile calls per year.
- On average, the Fresno Police Department receives 3,000 runaway calls per year.
- The National Child Safety Council reports that Fresno generates the 5th highest number of calls in the nation.
- 1/3 of the 2.8 million U. S. kids who run away each year are recruited into pornography and prostitution within 48 hours.

Project STEALTH (Stop Trafficking Exploitation And Liberate Through Hope) is a multi-faceted approach to engage our youth and bring hope into their lives through education, intervention, and mentorship.

The Fresno Police Chaplaincy partners with law enforcement to bring hope to our community.

Ministry can't always wait until Sunday.

What do we do to help?

Identification

Thanks to our partnership with the Fresno Police Department (FPD), we have access to every call for service involving at-risk youth. This gives our chaplains a unique opportunity to connect with youth and prevent them from being introduced to the Juvenile Justice Department.

Intervention

The Fresno Police Chaplaincy (FPC) also handles the reporting of runaways for the FPD. This allows us to help youth escape potentially toxic environments and bring hope to hopeless families. Each parent and child also completes a risk assessment developed by Alliant University to determine the family's needs based on their history.

Post-intervention

Under Project STEALTH, the FPC provides a city-wide mentoring program. The program reaches at-risk youth who are going through a challenging time in their lives due to family dysfunction, domestic violence, or running away, and providing them with support and resources. Through recreational and educational activities, mentors build one-on-one relationships to offer hope and direction.
