

Did you know?

- The Fresno Police Chaplaincy's RISE program (Resilience in Student Education) was launched in January 2011.
- RISE began in five FUSD schools and has since grown to reach more than twenty elementary schools.
- RISE benefits approximately 2,100 first graders and will soon expand to reach fourth graders.
- Each school chaplain spends at least 5 - 7 hours at their school site every week.

What do we do to help?

Build Resilience

Our evidence-based curriculum focuses on six essential characteristics:

- emotional regulation
- impulse control
- causal analysis
- empathy
- optimism
- self-efficacy

Developing these skills helps children deal with stress, overcome disadvantages, and avoid future obstacles like gang association, stress disorders, or alcohol and drug abuse. In addition, the relationship that chaplains build with students will provide support throughout their years in school.

Follow Up in the Community

School chaplains teach curriculum weekly in classrooms throughout the Fresno Unified School District. Chaplains spend time on campus during recess and lunch to build relationships with all students at their school. They also communicate with families to help provide resources like safe housing, clothing, food, counseling, and job opportunities to those in need. Above all, chaplains provide hope and guidance to children and families in our community.
